A New Mobile Strategy Game Available Now on the App Store and Google Play

Debut Title from Reborn Studio Headed by Civilization II Lead Designer Brian Reynolds

LOS ANGELES & BALTIMORE – April 2, 2015 – Big Huge Games, in partnership with publisher NEXON M, have released DomiNations, a mobile strategy game challenging players to lead their own civilization from the Stone Age to the Space Age through advancement, exploration, and conquest. Big Huge Games is an independent game development studio co-founded by 24-year industry veterans Brian Reynolds and Tim Train. Big Huge Games' debut title DomiNations is now available as a free download on iPhone, iPod touch, iPad, and Android mobile devices.

"We've built DomiNations from the ground up to combine the in-depth strategy gameplay we've been creating for over 20 years with a fast, fun, and tactical experience customized for mobile devices," said Brian Reynolds, Creative Director for DomiNations.

DomiNations is a base-building strategy game where players will choose to lead one of the world's greatest nations including the British, Romans, Chinese, Germans, French, Japanese, and Greeks. The timeline of DomiNations unfolds across the expanse of human history, where players must research landmark technological developments, leverage unique strategic civilization abilities, and build Wonders of the World in order to pave their way to victory. With famous generals like Alexander the Great, Cleopatra, and Napoleon at the helm, players can relive history's most famous conflicts at the tips of their fingers.

"Big Huge Games is ushering in the next generation of mobile strategy games with DomiNations, offering players an unrivaled amount of strategic choices and gameplay depth," said John Robinson, General Manager, NEXON M.

In DomiNations, players will be able to construct more than 100 unique upgradeable structures in order to expand a civilization and defend against invading armies. Players must manage their food and economy while training troops and hiring mercenaries to colonize neighboring civilizations in real-time combat to expand their influence and earn valuable loot. The robust single player experience in DomiNations will lead players on a campaign from the Fertile Crescent to World War II and beyond. The multiplayer mode will let players wage war against opponents from around the world while also joining alliances to cooperatively crush their enemies.

Download DomiNations for iPhone, iPad and iPod touch on the App Store and for Android devices on Google Play.

About Big Huge Games

Big Huge Games specializes in mobile strategy games. The studio was founded in 2013 by 24-year game industry collaborators Brian Reynolds and Tim Train, along with several other long-time veterans, and hopes to keep the flame alive of the original Big Huge Games which ran from 2000 to 2012. We build prototypes and improve them constantly until we love playing them ourselves – we know you won't love our game until we love it. Big Huge Games is represented by Ophir Lupu of United Talent Agency.
